'Oplan Bantay Laya to deliver final blow'

By Jo Zamora

ONE MILITARY OFFICIAL CALLS IT THE "end-game strategy," geared towards crushing all rebel groups and paving the way for national development before President Macapagal-Arroyo's term ends in 2010.

The line of attack are there: A legal offensive against communist chief Jose Ma. Sison and a military offensive against the New People's Army.

Officially called the Internal Security Operations (ISO) Oplan Bantay Laya, it serves as Ma Arroyo's master plan for delivering the final blow to a 37-year insurgency that so president from Ferdinand Marcos to Corason Aquino, Fidel Ramos and Joseph Estrada was able to tame.

It is the fourth counter-insurgency master plan adopted by the government in 25 years.

"This is it. If this won't work, it's not what the world," a key security official and one of the key implementers of Bantay Laya told the Inquirer.

The legal offensive on Sison and the other communist leaders, the military campaign and the coming economic, socio-political campaigns, all these would fall under the ISO Bantay Laya, the official explained.

Looking this way, one military official ended a briefing on Bantay Laya with this statement: "We have been in this game for decades. Perhaps it is time to put into play an endgame strategy that will terminate this lingering problem."

Bantay Laya would put practically all government agencies, including diplomatic efforts, including the constitution agency campaign would be waged even in foreign countries, where known Filipino insurgents, including Sison, had sought asylum.

Adopted in 2003 and originally intended as a 5-year program, Bantay Laya has been described in military documents as a "holistic approach" in fighting insurgency, using both civilian and military agencies to promote good government and public confidence in government, alleviate poverty and provide the people with a secure environment conducive to development.

According to documents, Bantay Laya also aims to "directly address

Palparan widens military drive in C. Luzon

A DAY AFTER PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-ARROYO declared she was joining an extra P1 billion into the war against communist rebels, a senior Army general reassured the expansion of military operations in Central Luzon, the decades-old hotbed of communist insurgency.

Major Gen. Javier Palparan, commander of the 7th Infantry Division, yesterday pinpointed the towns of Lubao and Bantuman in Pangasinana as the targets of the widened military campaign.

The towns of Palanan and General Tinio and Copeland City in Nueva Ecija would be next, said Palparan, whose iron-hand methods in dealing with rebels and their sympathizers had earned him the label of "The Butcher."

Palparan confirmed he had expanded the scope of his campaign against the New People's Army a day after Ma Arroyo announced she was infusing more money into the military effort in order to eliminate the insurgency in "critical areas" within two years.

Palparan reiterated Ma Arroyo's call for victory over the rebels.

"It's a booster to our efforts. I'm determined in this campaign. This is good. We're going all-out now," Palparan told the Inquirer.

FORT DEL PILAR, BAGUIO City—The Philippine Military Academy is not only revering the annual Father's Day celebration, but officers, parents and the incoming students aside in the semi-formal ceremony for yesterday's incorporation of PMA Class 2010 into the corps of cadets.

The theme song true for T. Sgt. Pepe Trevino, who watched his 17-year-old daughter, Rapana, become an official PMA cadet.

"It's the best Father's Day gift," Trevino told the Inquirer after the ceremony as Rapana approached him for a kiss.

Both Lt. Gen. Antonio Rosendo II, Armed Forces of the Philippines vice chief of staff, and Lt. Gen. Leopoldo Magallano, PMA superintendent, mentioned the special day in their speeches to welcome the new batch of fourth-class cadets.

Rosendo reminded them that their fathers sitting in the PMA grandstand would "remember the day because [of] Father's Day."

Indeed, fathers applauding their children were a common sight at yesterday's ceremony.

One said he had come all the way from Cagayan de Oro City to witness his son achieve something he never did.

Capt. General Salazar, PMA superintendent, said only three of the original 280 cadets who signed up for the PMA summer boot camp did not make the list.

Orthopedic boat sails Visayan seas

ITS NAME "BIRHAN" IS DERIVED from a Bengali term that means "brothers to come around," and it flies the Visayan flag.

The 30-ton, 16-meter-long speedily designed and fully equipped boat with an eight-member staff docks in various areas of the archipelago to fulfill a mission: Provide free orthopedic devices for those in need.

Hawai has produced 60 artificial limbs (prostheses), 22 corrective braces and 17 special chairs for people with disabilities (PWDs) since it began operations in January 2005.

It has visited the island-visit-ers of Ateneo, Marikina, the 1st, southern Antique and northern Leyte, staying in each place for three months.

All the devices are made on the boat by Elmer Villagracia, its lone technician. Himself a PWD from Talibawan, Marikina, Villagracia has been making artificial devices for 15 years.

Some of the acquired materials—such as plastic of Pura, B20-80, hardware, woodwork and pigments—were purchased in Sta. Cruz or Iligado, Marikina.

Southern Leyte was where Birhan docked in the first week of May. Nine municipalities were on the itinerary: San Bernardino, San Juan, La Libertad, San Francisco, San Ricardo, Sagay, Bantay, Macabalan and Marikina.

According to Benjamin Gobin, program director of Handicap International (HI) Philippines, and his colleagues, the idea of an "orthopedic boat" was

Workers decry SC action on Luisita

CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO—TWO THOUSAND OF workers striking last in a historic union protest against the Supreme Court's action on the appeal to explore labor secretary Francisco T. Tomas, a presidential appointee who is being considered with the choice but has arrested part of the development plan of the Philippines.

Justice Antonio E. Nolasco, a former labor and foreign affairs undersecretary and his appointee, to be taken over the labor portfolio in 2010, have been appointed to the position.

In an interview, Tomas said his first priority would be to study the progress of the program and to see if there is any need for further action. He said he would be looking for the best way to do this, but he hoped the court would realize that moving the TBC was a mistake.

"It is hoped that the court would see the sense of their decision and its effect on the lives of the workers. But even without the TBC, we will continue to fight the hard and unyielding struggle to protect the workers' rights," Tomas said.

The TBC has been said to be in the court to reconsider the TBC.

Galing said the KISA allowed the heads of labor President Antonio Tomas to continue working and, instead, was the union's support in the court to reconsider the TBC.

But Mollan, chair of the National Labor Union, said that the TBC was a mistake.

The union's management said the TBC would give it a chance to check if the workers truly want the TBC to be passed out among them or to continue with the double shift scheme that has made them to work of the company from the company, or to re-organize the company and make more.

"We are not the only workers who are not in the TBC, but we are not the only workers who are not in the TBC," Tomas said.

Bishop questions P1-B boost to anti-Red drive

By Lela B. Soldevilla

A ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOP yesterday questioned the government's allocation of P1 billion to buy more equipment to fight the communist insurgency, warning that a wider war could endanger more civilian lives.

Instead, the bishop should be asked to consider giving, according to Catholic Bishop Gregorio Siguerra, who heads the public affairs office of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines.

Siguerra said that while he agreed that the problem of the insurgency should be solved, fighting the war would not do it.

"We should remove the insurgency that is in force of constant fear—the solution is not violence against violence," Siguerra told reporters at the President's Press Conference at La Salle Green Hills.

Real solution

"The solution is to do what was done in the 1950s, which is to trace the roots of why there is the NPA (New People's Army) and the MILF (Moro Islamic Liberation Front), and that is what we should all address,"

Siguerra also questioned the wisdom behind allocating a big amount of money to buy equipment to fight rebels.

"There isn't a big amount of money to be allocated for this reason, given the state of the country," he said.

Danger to civilians

The National Statistics Office said recently that the number of unemployed workers had risen to 2.83 million from 2.71 million, most through the unemployment rate.

Siguerra expressed concern about the effects of stepped-up military operations on civilians.

"If you have victory with violence, you will only have violence and we know that many would be affected and endangered in the process," Siguerra said.

"We should remove the insurgency that is in force of constant fear—the solution is not violence against violence," Siguerra told reporters at the President's Press Conference at La Salle Green Hills.

Real solution

"The solution is to do what was done in the 1950s, which is to trace the roots of why there is the NPA (New People's Army) and the MILF (Moro Islamic Liberation Front), and that is what we should all address,"

Siguerra also questioned the wisdom behind allocating a big amount of money to buy equipment to fight rebels.

"There isn't a big amount of money to be allocated for this reason, given the state of the country," he said.

Danger to civilians

The National Statistics Office said recently that the number of unemployed workers had risen to 2.83 million from 2.71 million, most through the unemployment rate.

Siguerra expressed concern about the effects of stepped-up military operations on civilians.

"If you have victory with violence, you will only have violence and we know that many would be affected and endangered in the process," Siguerra said.

SC blocks dismissal of lifestyle check 'flunker'

THE SUPREME COURT HAS stripped the Department of Public Works and Highways from enforcing an Omnibus order dissolving Interdenominational Missionary Prayer, one of the first rulings of its kind to fall in the government's hands.

With the temporary restraining order issued by the court's first decision today, Pledge "gets to keep his old job for the time being," a press statement issued by the high national public information officer said.

"Staring at the angry multitude of the policeman... the most foolish reaction to have a temporary postponing after obtaining the secretary of the Department of Public Works and Highways to refrain from implementing the domestic order of the Chaldeans, and the two years' court order.

The combination, who had accused Flynn of amassing $1.6 billion worth of property had ordered the latter's dismissal on June 20, 2004, offering the firm months later on Oct. 12, after it threw out Flynn's motion for reconsideration.

The high court, in a resolution signed by First Division Clerk of Court Enriquez Riquenza-Vidal, also ordered Flores to post a $10,000 cash or surety bond within five days of the issuance of the court's order.

Playas filed a petition for review in the Supreme Court on Oct. 25, 2003, after the Court of Appeals affirmed the Ombudsman's dismissal order following the secretary's supposed failure to explain his "innocent lie."

The CA also denied Plym's request to be allowed to "interview his associates of assets and liabilities, and net worth (CAN) before he should be held administratively liable."

Plym made the request after Omaha and Grand Investigations and Detection Group (BIG) investigators found that he had not only failed to explain his accumulation of $16.4 million in property, but, for bad

GlobeQUEST unveils a new ICON

GlobeQUEST, the corporate arm of Innowe Communications, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Globe Telecom, launched its biggest innovation, a new and more powerful network that embodies multiple advancements in technology called the IP-Converged Optical Network, or ICON.

This revolutionary new offering uses multi-protocol label switching (MPLS) and IP as its core technologies.

With the enhanced network, GlobeQUEST further expands its range of offerings and solutions for the enterprise market.

During the event, a performer displays the power and flexibility of the new network.

The Enterprise, Enlightened

Titled "The Enterprise, Enlightened," the launch series treated key company executives and IT managers to a lunch-to-dinner half-day affair.

The theme of the event likened the workings of the modern enterprise to the workings of the human body. It portrayed the advanced mind-body discipline of yoga to depict GlobeQUEST ICON's powerful new features and benefits, providing the flexibility, resiliency and scalability that enterprises need in their networks. Thus, GlobeQUEST ICON was established as the next evolutionary step in network systems technology.

Guests from various industries and businesses later attended the dinner reception.

The first part of event was a series of sessions that provided in-depth information about network technologies, specifically on MPLS and IP VPN, emerging applications such as VoIP on enterprise networks, and customer case studies that showed audiences real life business situations.

While the sessions showed network infrastructures and capabilities in great detail, they also proved engaging to the audience—composed mostly of tech experts from prominent companies across different industries.

The diversity of industries the guests represented also proved illustrative of GlobeQUEST ICON's anticipated impact on the business community. With applications in industries as diverse as banking, retail and business process outsourcing, GlobeQUEST ICON is seen as a big step in the evolution of network technology—one that has the enormous potential to affect the future of even the largest organizations.

Dinner followed after the sessions, where the new network was heralded by dancers incorporating traditional yoga poses into a high-energy number. After an audio-visual presentation that outlined how GlobeQUEST's latest achievement would lead to peace of mind for any enterprise, the show yielded to a short skit which, in the true spirit of convergence, starred theater talents alongside real GlobeQUEST engineers, and head of the Enterprise Business Group, Mr. Jesus "Bobby" Romero himself.

The short demonstration proved the true highlight of the launch for the audience. Many of the viewers may even have identified closely with the star of the skit: an engineer who saved the robustness of the new network by managing transmissions of real-time traffic, such as video streams and applications. The cheerful, dependable character of an engineer—played onstage by a real-life GlobeQUEST engineer—also evoked warm laughter. Jesus Romero himself also demonstrated the fast recovery feature of GlobeQUEST ICON. The entire demonstration clearly shows and proves how the network can change the way enterprises run and implement their networks.

By the end of the skit, guests were afforded some understanding of the new technology from a business perspective. More importantly, GlobeQUEST ICON's promise of reliability was not just made, but clearly proven.

In his message to guests, Innowe Communications CEO Gil B. Genio offered a broad view of the advantages of the new network. In a release last week, Mr. Genio provided this overarching perspective: "This network enhancement has far-reaching and broad implications, resulting in a revolutionary improvement in enterprise business operations in all industries from retail to banking, manufacturing, logistics, BPOs and call centers." Mr. Genio said, ending with a statement of breathless excitement: "And this new network is now ready to serve you."

A short skit demonstrated the different benefits of GlobeQUEST ICON.

TALK of the TOWN

Editor Juan R. Santolucito Jr.

How much is human life worth?

GIVING A MONETARY VALUE TO A PERSON'S LIFE IS NOT AS EASY AS PUTTING A price tag on a cell phone, a car or any other consumer product. But certain occasions demand that a price be set. A court could award P50,000 to the loved ones of a crime victim, while an insurance company could pay the heirs of a policyholder P500,000 or more, depending on the monetary premiums that the deceased had paid.

In Congress, a group of legislators is pushing that the families of the disappeared and those killed arbitrarily by the Marcos regime be compensated at least P1 million each.

From the viewpoint of the Catholic Church, life is priceless.

Putting a monetary value on one's life came to the fore after Chief Justice Antonio Panganiban said that Luc Echagayon should not have been executed but instead on life imprisonment. This prompted Sen. Aquilino Pimentel II to suggest that the government compensate Echagayon's family between P5 million and P50 million for the "wrongful death."

Echagayon was the first to be executed by lethal injection in 1999 after the Supreme Court affirmed his death sentence. Congress recently repealed the death penalty law.

Insurance sets lifetime value

By Ellen M. Yarbrow

I READ SOME NEWS THAT IN 2001, the insurance industry's annual compensation, the typical income being made by each worker was $61,200 cents, or roughly 14¢, in the overall cost of exchange. Yes, considering, these costs represent the bulk of the human body.

If you asked the children of a typical 19th-century family, however, they would probably say you would probably not be worth as much as a cow. But for professionals in the late 19th-century, a respectable family with an earning father, human life has been estimated to be worth a great deal.

Because a life insurance policy is sold to a person to pay a predetermined amount to the beneficiaries of the insured, the better able, or the more successful, the insured is, the more a person is worth to the insurance company. In fact, the value of a person's life is determined by the amount of money he or she can earn, and the more money he or she can earn, the more he or she is worth to the insurance company.

most coverage of between P1 million to P5 million, depending on the size of the insured's income and the amount of life insurance he or she has purchased.

Another problem with the so-called income replacement method is that it does not take into account the fact that the insured's income is not constant. It is possible that the insured's income will increase or decrease over time, and the insurance company will not be able to predict this. In fact, the insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all, and the insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all.

The insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all, and the insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all.

Typical manager

For P1 million, the P1 million is only P5,000 a year. The insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all, and the insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all.

The insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all, and the insurance company will not be able to predict the insured's income at all.

Power co-op told to refund P3B to consumers

By Phoebe F. Buehlich
PFI/Phoebe Buehlich

ELIZABETH CITY—THE ENERGY Regulatory Commission (ERC) has ordered the Shasta Electric Company (SEC) to refund its consumers nearly $5 million in overcharges.

In a 14-page order dated June 9, the ERC ordered SEC to start the refund of P2,688,220,749 in the next billing period from the date of the order until the full amount is paid.

Power is sold through distribution of the 180 households of Shasta

City. It has around 40,000 customers.

Non legal sound investment theory said they have not included a copy of the order and would not have gone into default.

It is not the SEC that they have not collected unauthorized charges from their customers.

It added that the amount claimed from previous charges are returned to their power suppliers in the purchase of electricity in distribution to its consumers.

The ERC said directed them to refund within 30 days from the initial implementation of the refund a recent statement indicating their compliance with the order and its refund scheme.

The power firm was also ordered to reflect the refund, appear in the monthly bill of consumers and to submit an implementation report to the ERC before the end of January stating what was used the refund to complete.

The order was signed by ERC Chair Rodolfo Alonzo and Commissioners Jose Alvarado, Alejandro Ballesteros and

In its order, the ERC said that 114,000 consumers for the last month from February 1998 to October 1999 and from November 1998 to July 2005.

The ERC said that overcharged P2,688,220,749 from its consumers because it charged a higher power cost charge, as the cost of purchasing power from the Shasta Electric Company (SEC) is 100% of the cost of power produced.

The power procurement agreement (PPA) between SEC and ERC provided that the payment cost should be equal to or less than that of the National Electric Corp., the commission said in its order.

SEC also claimed that the power cost was not the same as the cost of power produced by the Shasta Electric Company (SEC).

The ERC, then, said the Energy Regulatory Board, had received SEC on Feb. 14, 1999 to refund its consumers P2,688,220,749 for overcharges from October 1999 to January 2005.

The ERC said that some of the expenses should be excluded from the power cost charge collected by SEC from its consumers because there were "not directly related to the production of distribution of power and do not reflect the costs of consumers." The expenses included advertising, public relations, representation and public sharing.

The case stemmed from a case filed by lawyer Romeo Gonzalez charging SEC with collecting unauthorized expenses through its generation charges since 1998.

Gonzalez also accused SEC of overcharging its consumers by adding up its generation cost including expenses not related to the generation of electricity.

Harbour Centre bags PBL Unity Cup crown

Yeo helps P'masters become lowest-seeded champs

By Jonathan N. Pags

IT WAS A CHAMPIONSHIP NO one could have predicted.

Harbour Centre got the 2016 PBL Unity Cup crown after a 70-66 victory yesterday over the Waterhouse Unity Cup at the sponsored Chinese Sports Center in Hong Kong.

It was a somewhat lopsided win, earned PBL's first title of the year, as he posted a 22 of 30 points from beyond the arc in the close contest that decided the best-of-three series, 2-1.

Final MVP: Waterhouse Player (A) Yeo also posted his impressive solo performance with 17 points, four rebounds and four assists.

Yeo, called from the stands, was the hero. "I was a little bit nervous, but I was a team player," he said. "I was a team player, and I was a team player."

It was a team effort, the top-ranked Harbour Centre, the young star of the team, Yeo, who was the first advantage in the quarterfinals and took a shot at the end of the first half.

"We wanted our defense," said Yeo, who was the first advantage in the quarterfinals and took a shot at the end of the first half.

But clearly, it was Yeo who topped the defense in the first half.

The Waterhouse pulled in 25 points from the second half, while the Harbour Centre only scored 10. The Harbour Centre's top scorer, Yeo, who was the first advantage in the quarterfinals and took a shot at the end of the first half.

Also, Yeo was the first advantage in the quarterfinals and took a shot at the end of the first half.

Tiger's major letdown

Woods misses US Open cut; Stricker grabs lead

MAMARONECK, NEW YORK—THE LONGEST LAYOFF in Tiger Woods' career ended with his shortest week at a major.

Woods kept missing for someone just as close after nearly three months of agonizing in the US Open on Friday until there was nothing left to do but say to his caddy: "Let's go home."

At 11:00 a.m. on June 15, he walked down to a caddy for the first time in 38 years as a professional.

"It's not even a thing you want to have happen," Woods said. "Unfortunately, I missed this one."

Perhaps it was the man who has not having played since the final round of the Masters in April. Maybe he missed was derailed by a moment of his father's death, who died on May 13 of cancer. Someone even suggested that he would have been better off playing two weeks ago in the Memorial as a way of honoring his father's memory in the rougher way in golf.

Woods shook his head each time. "When you don't mention, you're not going to be happy either way," Woods said. "I don't even if you tell what happened in my life or not or not. There's no reason to ever going to be happy again."

Woods might have known he was in trouble. Sunday through his round, when a shot which appeared to be headed just off the flag on the 100th hole clipped the top of a tree. It sailed through the branches, ricocheted on a tree trunk, then bounced 25 yards to the left and landed against a chain-link fence in a bunker on the 101st hole.

Just then a hole-in-one on the 101st hole, which was being called this week.

He stopped in a moment in the way, but he didn't stop to pick up the hole-in-one of the flag and made double bogey.

The other message came late in his round.

Woods was playing his best golf from the start, but he was bogeying, and he was at 10 over par when he stopped on the 100th hole to start up a 60-foot putt. He looked at the scoreboard behind the green to see where his caddy had finished. He found with a hole-in-one on the 100th hole for a 60-foot putt and a 10-foot putt of 1 under 120.

The US Open has a rule that anyone within 15 feet of the hole makes the cut.

The gallery groaned when the caddy was heard, knowing that Woods was 11 shots out of the lead. Instead of making up ground, he went backward. Just then a large crowd of people on the 100th hole was seen to be in the crowd, for the first time.

Woods finished one of the five with par rounds picked by the 6,264 crowd, par 70. He missed three shots, putting a 70 under 60 for a 10-over round of 70 and a 10-over round on Wednesday's 100th hole.

Management's was the 100th round, with just one bogey and 17 birdies.

"This was a grinding round today and I was glad to hold on," Montgomerie said.

American Geoff Ogilvy and US Open winner Thomas Bjorn (England) both posted average 70s to share third in round 14.

Jonny Lee (2003 US Open winner) was the only former champion in the top 10, he needed a 72 for the 100th hole, but he was not playing in the top 10.

Phil Mickelthwait, who filled the last round major after at the 2000 PGA Championship and the Masters in April, kept himself in the top 10 with a 70-over 73 for 101 and a share of seventh place, but only 10-over 100 (101) and 10-over 100 (101) and 10-over 100 (101).

STEVIE Woods looks out of a sand trap on the 100th hole.

He is the only celeb to top 'Top Gun' star-power list twice

World's No. 1 star: Tom Cruise

LOS ANGELES—BETWEEN MEN'S cover-jumping and the top-grossing domination, Tom Cruise is the world's No. 1 star, according to Forbes annual "Celebrity 100 Power list," which ranks famous folks based on earnings and influence.

The list also recognizes leading actors as the highest paid stars from the world of television, film, music, and sports, and, oddly, just about everything else you can think of to follow, a particularly strong showing by Forbes says.

"We take lots of money from the world's most famous," Forbes said. "It's increasingly important for us to provide information on the stars who are making money in the entertainment industry, and this list represents who has the most to lose."

Cruise is the only actor to top the list twice.

top the list twice, he said. He was No. 1 in 1993.

"The year of the low-grossed-but-bombastic star," Forbes said. "Success is no longer a matter of the kind of salary he gets."

With an estimated income of $40 million last year, Cruise was not the top money-maker, but his coach-bagging scenes in "Top Gun," his dramatic comeback, and Forbes (should) promote depression, and substantial income with Forbes made him one of the most talked-about stars of the year. He ranked 11th on last year's list.

British score
The British scored high, with the leading British actor in second, "Nanny Nancy" and Paul McCartney and Peter Dinklage in 1993 place, and Paul McCartney and Peter Dinklage in 1993 place.

"American Idol" big star 50-year-old George Strait was No. 25, ranked 10th on last year's list. Strait's 22 years in the top 50.

Personal life: Cruise, who is still with his first wife, Milla Jovovich, is the only actor who has been married twice.

Cruise's 22 years in the top 50.

Kapamilya revamps late-night newscast

By Richard S. Delgado Jr.

A SIX PART OF ABS-CBN'S ON-AIR program revamp, its late-night newscast is set to undergo a major overhaul.

The "Kapamilya" newscast, which is set to air on May 15, is the first of a series of changes to the network's late-night programming.

For a start, the late-night newscast "Kapamilya" will be rebranded.

AFTER OUR RECENT FILE ON JEFFERSON AIRLINES, here are additional tips on the Louisville-based Airline. It can be compared to a similar major U.S. based carrier in the 1950s, when the average of Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher was rocked and roll-maniacal: all Taylor left hand over heart to him at Richard Burton, as they were then "Gleaners."

Thankward 40 years, and pretty sure the same thing happened on the set of "The Smith," when Brad Pitt flipped over on star Angelina Jolie, and then I know, because, in the back.

'Awit' 2006 belonged to Bamboo

The band clinched five awards, including Album of the Year

BAMBOO: "Light, Peace, Love... Halibuh!"

THIS YEAR'S AWIT AWARDS belonged to Bamboo. The band carried away five of the major awards—Ballad of the Year for "Much Has Been Said," Best Performance by a Group Recording Artist for "Halibuh," Album of the Year for "Light, Peace, Love," Song of the Year for "Halibuh," and Best Rock Song, also for "Halibuh."

The Awit Awards are given out by the Philippine Association of the Record Industry. Bamboo won "Sunday at Bridge" for the 41st year of the award. Pardon, the quiet crowd-drawing band was also nominated for Best Newbie Song for "Mang Juan," which became part of the running for Best Music Video; and Best Selling Album of the Year, for "Halibuh at Pardon."

Pardon did not win any of the awards.

Gary's night

Gary Valenciano topped off with his sixth Best Performance by a Male Recording Artist award at the 15th Awit Awards on Thursday at the Casino Filipino Amphitheater in Pasay.

Gary was nominated in the category for three songs—"Break Me," "Love Learning," and "Cape of Good Hope."

He won for "Break Me," a song he wrote for the late record producer Bala that underlined himself.

Gary did not even finish singing on Friday due to his cold and cough.

"I thought that being nominated for three songs in this category would lessen my chances of winning," he said. "I wasn't expecting to win. I thought, okay it's great if I get it, but when my name was called, I didn't know how to react. I didn't know where to go."

Gary let out a loud "Wah" when he came to accept the award.

The singer, who has been a fixture in the pop scene for the last 23 years, lost 2nd Music Video, last year's runner-up winner to the World Championship of Performing Arts held in Berkeley, California. Gary also won over Marla Rivera, with whom he dominated the music scene in the '80s and '90s, for his song "Dance Blue" and Martin Roa, for "Sungang Lupa."

Barbie vs. Ragini

For Ballad of the Year, Gary was the only one to be nominated. Bamboo's "Much Has Been Said" and for the duo with Rabe's "The Day You Said Goodbye." "Rain" had a second nomination in the category for "Dance This Rain" and Rosemary's "Hallelujah (I'm Here)."

Ogie Alfaro hosted the show and did his impromptu comic act, including a rendition of "Just a Little" during breaks in the show, which was taped for television. Ogie joked about being beaten in Best Performance by a Duo by Winward Tio in the song "The One in You." He was in the running for his duet with Sharon Cuneta.

Sharon won the Best Song Performer for "How's This" (a song that says "I'll be with you," chosen for the TV series "Agila"). The group won Music Video of the Year for the same song.

July 1996, went home with the Best Music Video Award for "Kiss Me" (a song that says "I'll be with you," chosen for the TV series "Agila"). The group won Music Video of the Year for the same song.

'Just a Little'

Best Performance by a New Female Recording Artist went to April for "Just a Little."

Ogie Alfaro won Best Performance by a New Male Recording Artist for "Magkikita sa 'Yo," while Engel won Best Performance by a New Group Recording Artist for "Tisang Ayat."

Best-selling Album of the Year went to 10-10's "Love"

Instrumental Music Album and Best Instrumental Performance for "Gusto Ko ng Pagmamahal."

Best Jazz Recording went to John David for "Just a Little."

For the first time, the Awit awards gave out the Best of Music Award (BMA) award, in recognition of local artists who have brought honor to the industry by winning in international competitions.

Recipients of the BMA were Gary V and Marvin Iriarte, and Bamboo, Ella May Latorra, Sharon Cuneta, and John David.

Pfizer helps bring new life to the community

AS A LEADING RESEARCH-BASED PHARMACEUTICAL company, Pfizer is committed to preserving and protecting the health of communities it serves. Its employees work to discover and make available safe and effective medicines that cure diseases and save people's lives. They also maintain this commitment to the community by creating opportunities and participating in programs that help members of the community lead healthier and better lives.

In line with this commitment, Pfizer recently launched the Engage program, which aims to recognize the value of Community among its employees by providing them with various opportunities to share their time, resources and talent with the communities the company serves. This program features activities that promote the education, value, inclusion and health of the members of these communities.

"These volunteers are highly encouraged to Pfizer, our employees have shown great support of the company's community programs. The Engage program will create more avenues for employees to participate and help more people," said Rene Villanueva, Pfizer corporate affairs director.

Recently, as part of the program, Pfizer volunteers worked hand in hand with students of a General Edgington community in Batangas when they completed their painting and landscaping activities in the village. Through this endeavor, the Pfizer employees were able to not only help extend the appearance of their homes and surroundings, but most importantly, get to know the people they have committed to help and share their time and resources with during the rest of the Edgington activities.

ON FATHER'S DAY—WHEN my editor asked me to write about "the best piece of advice my father gave me," my mind went all blank.

I am one of those individuals who had a hard time communicating with their dad. Ten years ago he was confined in the hospital again after suffering a stroke. The place he no longer was just the bath of us. Seeing my dad in the hospital was an uncomfortable feeling since he had always been energetic and healthy.

To ask him about work, I asked him about his. Then I asked him if he was happy. There was silence. He said he was. And all the time I had to go since he needed to rest. I felt terrible. I know, despite the fact that not a lot of words were said, that there was yes, yes and love there.

My dad is much more vocal and has even started playing badminton. I've realized that in life things are the way they are for a purpose, and change may come in small steps, but they do come.

Tiny Guam looms large

By: Alan N. Wierzbicki

SINCE GUAM POSITIONED itself as a family destination in the early '90s, it has become quite common for tour guides like Toni Riancho to deal with the most shockingly tame question from inquisitive tourists, particularly Japanese kids.

One questioner keeps encountering a host of insects in his yard. He asks: "Can you tell me what to do about the following insects? I have a large yard with a lot of trees and shrubs, particularly along the outside fence line strip, so phorids and gnats are a problem. Do they have to be constantly sprayed or can they be controlled by other means?"

Richard Chin led lights, the front runner, who also writes and teaches history, has been more than happy to answer such queries. If anything, these students only prove how unique his home is in the eyes of outsiders, most of whom had been big cities such as Tokyo, Fukuoka and Nagoya.

Of the 1,217,567 visitors, seven times as big as the country's current population of 165,000 who visited Guam last year, 85 percent were Japanese. The marker is that big and reveals to Guam that Continental Airlines flies to it since Japanese citizens daily.

The Guatemalan government has accredited St. Luke's Hospital, Malabar Medical Center and Asian Hospital to attend to the medical needs of its expatriate workers.

Not a few visitors are perceptive, a tall story and the largest and perhaps most famous island in the Mirmans group that also includes Beta, Gamma and Delta, is designed to play dolphins, seagulls or simple folk in the fishery—one of the few "home made" stuff in an island that depends almost exclusively on imported goods.

"When you're from a big city like Tokyo," says Kameoka, "there, perhaps, are something you don't see as brilliantly as you do in Brazil. There are things you don't take for granted when you visit the island."

Measuring experience

Shopping Filipinos need not worry as Covid-19 also offers plenty of shopping opportunities.

Apart from several luxury resorts with five-star service along Phoenix Island and Tioman Island, there are five major shopping options on the island: Giant Premium Outlets, LFD Galleria, K Mart, Mosman Mall and Agala Mall.

The last two establishments are owned by Filipino tycoons Lino and Henry Ty, respectively.

K. Mest, reportedly the biggest of the kind in the entire U.S. (including Big K. Mest), is open 24 hours and within walking distance from a number of beaches. Source: dfo.

THAT'S RIGHT, LAD. THAT'S HOW TO GROW. Knows and delight him with a line. That line. Collects for a minimum footpath of Fame.

That's how. Collects a special ink. That's one. Again as thick as a dollar but is composed with all intriguing emotions not found in typical coffee drinks.

You don't have to be an athlete to need fitness and energy. Everyday life is filled with activities that require both. Thinking, walking, standing, sitting, even losing sleep is a blend of the workouts of everyday life. Without the right level of fitness, doing these ordinary physical activities could leave you tired and winded.

Free! Like BLU®. It's not as healthy as a sports drink.

New AT&T Fitness Water is a uniquely cool product. It's not for hardcore athletes because unlike any other specialized sports drink, AT&T Fitness Water is specifically made to help the average person recharge throughout the day to better meet the challenges of an active, stressful life.

It has less salt than ordinary sports drinks and contains electrolytes – such as sodium and potassium ions – to replace those body fluids that you lose.

ELITE® Flavors Water keeps energy and hydration in perfect balance all day, so you stay on top physical and mental conditions everyday.

Added to the BUNN® it's better than ordinary water.
Light flavored and non-carbonated, BUNN Fitness Water has a more appealing taste than plain water. With more electrolytes than purified water, it keeps the body better hydrated so it makes a more noticeable difference.

It is also more easily adsorbed than ordinary water due to its smaller fluid concentration on itself.

Get a REIT everyday

ALL-STAR Fitness Water is for people who like regular lives filled with activity. It's for the student who has to run to class, then to his org meeting and back again. It's for the innovative who has to dash from one meeting to another. It's for the regular who has to run around town, pulling his own weight to succeed in his own field.

BJJ3 Fitness Water is the national endurance champion. Kona triers and Kona swimmers on their shore off the coast. They know they will need to be fit as they go about their everyday chores and activities.

It's the anybody rather than to be on top of you or last game of the season!

RUSS to your favorite store! It's only $1.99!

At 3M Flowers Water is a totally new and exciting way to spruce up everyday life. It's available in great florists, convenience stores and supermarkets at the very reasonable price of P17 for a 300 ml. bottle!

It comes in a light, reusable PET bottle so it's convenient to take with you throughout your active day.

Use everyday items, like something that's just right... and that's the RE-SOL!
